2012 MAPS Annual Convention

Speakers Bios

Jerry Broadus, PS

His company, Geometrix Surveying, Inc., provides expert consulting for attorneys working on difficult boundary dispute and liability cases. To this end Geometrix has prepared material for surveyor negligence cases across the country, provided surveys of forest, urban, waterfront, harbor, and airport boundaries in Washington, and has prepared unique materials including a report to Congress for the settlement of a Federal boundary dispute.

Jerry has taught advanced surveying classes for the Federal Bureau of Land Management, and has given legal seminars for surveyors across the country. He actively presents continuing legal education on surveying topics for attorneys. He has written boundary law articles for the Washington State Bar Association, the American Bar Association, Professional Education Systems, Inc., and P.O.B. Magazine. He is actively involved in his professional society in Washington. He has been co-chairman of its legal reference manual committee and chairman of its digital signature committee.

Bob Dahl, BLM

Bob Dahl is a Cadastral Surveyor at the Bureau of Land Management Washington Office in Washington, D.C. He works for the BLM Chief Cadastral Surveyor developing policy and budget. Before transferring to the Washington Office, he spent 22 years surveying for the BLM in California, Oregon, and Washington conducting dependent resurveys. Before the BLM he surveyed for a private surveyor and the United States Forest Service. He is a States of California, Oregon, and Washington licensed land surveyor and an Oregon Certified Water Rights Examiner. He holds a Bachelor's degree in Surveying from the Oregon Institute of Technology. He is a member of American Congress on Surveying and Mapping, an instructor for the BLM Certified Federal Surveyor (CFedS) Program, and was the Chief Editor of the 2009 edition of the Manual of Surveying Instructions.

Dominica VanKoten, BLM

Dominica VanKoten is the Chief Cadastral Surveyor at the Bureau of Land Management Eastern States Office in Springfield Virginia. She is responsible for the management of the BLM cadastral survey program in the 31 states east of and bordering the Mississippi River. Before transferring to the Eastern States Office, She spent 17 years working for BLM at the Alaska State Office in various positions from Field Surveyor to navigability section chief. She is an Alaska licensed land surveyor and holds a Bachelor's degree in surveying engineering from Ferris State University in Michigan.
